THREE QUESTIONS AND AN OFFER.
THEORY Vs. PRACTICE

(i) Do you know that the ROYAL STANDARD TYPEWRITER can do ALL that the most expensive machine on the market can do?

(ii) Do you know that the remarkable mechanical devices belonging exclusively to the "Royal" give it ADVANTAGES over any other machine?

(iii) Do you know that the "Royal" Typewriter Manufacturers will NOT turn out an "inferior" model, or cheap substitute expressly to compete with the solely cheap Typewriter in order to catch business at any price? Such is the resort of makers of highly priced machines to face Competition.

The "Royal" Factory has one Standard of quality only—the highest, with various models to suit all requirements. As "an ounce of practice is worth a ton of theory" we shall be glad to send a machine for your personal inspection and practical trial at any time convenient to yourself, on receipt of your Post Card, if you prefer it, and can spare the time, we shall be very pleased to demonstrate to you the special features and working of the various models at our Establishment.

OR

Model I. Rs. 275. Model V. Rs. 335. Model X Rs. 360.

PNEUMOSAN.

(Amylthiotrimethylamine)

Has stood the test of time and is now extensively used in Great Britain and her Colonies in all types of tuberculosis. It gives far better results than any other treatment specially in Pulmonary, and Glandular Tuberculosis, Tuberculous Joints. Tuberculous Peritonitis and Enteritis, Lupus Vulgaris and mixed infections. Not seldom acute cases too respond to its action. It may be employed with perfect safety since it does not cause any irritation locally or constitutionally.

(Vide "The Lancet," March 30th 1912, page 897, and leading articles of the 'Medical Times,"30th 1911 page 781, et seq.)

Dr. John Penn Milton, late Medical Partner to Dr. Otto Walther of Nordrach, Black Forest, Germany, and the Medical Superintendent of the Devon and Cornwall Sanatorium for Consumptives, has favoured with the following observations:

"Some hundreds of cases have been treated so far. The instructive and interesting point about them is the short time that they were under Treatment and that they were able to return to their various business on leaving the Sanitorium. I am getting better results since using PNEUMOSAN than ever before. I would point out that cases in the first and second stages respond best to PNEUMOSAN although I have had good results in more advanced cases, but these results are not to general or so certain. One is Morally bound to take Notice of a preparation like PNEUMOSAN when the Patients all ask for it because they say they feel so much better from its administration and when sees the Improvement in appetite, Temperature, couch and general well being in nearly every case."

PNEUMOSAN is issued in bottles containing 20 to 30 Injections. PRICE Rs. 13-0 PER BOTTLE.

STANDARD BAROMETER READING.

The following information is published in order that vessels in the Bombay Harbour may by comparison with a standard instrument, ascertain the errors of their barometers:—

The reading of the Standard Barometer at the Colaba observatory corrected for index error and reduced to 80 deg. F. and to the level of the tide, at 8-45 a.m. Standard Time on the 7th August was 29.[illegible] inches. For temperature corrections applicable to mercurial barometers of ships the reading of the ship's barometer has to be increased or decreased by 0.13 inch. for every 5 degrees according as the temperature of the attached thermometer is respectively below or above 80 deg. F. In case of the aneroid no temperature or correction is needed. But for comparison at 80 F. all anerold reading should be increased by 138 inch. For correcting the ship's barometer either mercurial o aneriod for the height of the barometer cistern above the tide level in the steam at 8-45 a.m., Standard Time, the ship's barometer reading should be increased by 0.10 inch. for every 10 feet of the height to make it comparable with the observatory barometer reading given above.

PROBLEM OF NICKNAMES.

"The newspapers are full of personal reminiscences of Mr. Chamberlain, and undoubtedly the public at large were keenly attracted by his strong personality," says the "Star." "The popular name for him was 'Joe,' and this is a clue to the attitude of the peoples towards him.

"It is a curious and almost inexplicable mystery why some Parliamentarians acquire familiar nicknames and others never acquire them. It is not a matter of chance. There is something in the personality which calls fourth the instinct of nicknaming in the people.

"One cannot imagine a nickname in connection with the late Lord Salisbury or the late Duke of Devonshire. The possibility of Mr. Asquith achieving the glory of an abbreviated Christian name is unthinkable. Yet Mr. Gladstone in the fulness of time was affectionately known as the Grand Old Man and the G. O M. One cannot conceive even a dignified nickname as being applicable to Mr. Asquith. Yet Lord Morley before he was translated to the House of Lords was known by the sobriquet of 'Honest John.'

"How does it came to pass that the austerity of a Morley does not preclude the accolade of the nickname, whereas the austerity of an Asquith distinctly does preclude it? These be enigmas which are hard to unravel.

"It is easy to understand why a cynical wag like the late Henry Labouchere came to enjoy the nickman of 'Labby'; but it is not quite so easy to explain why Joseph Chamberlain became known to his countrymen by the endearing appellation of 'Joe.' It is lacking in dignity. It savours of familiarity. It resembles the nicknames given to pugilists and music-hall comedians, American golfers and cricketers. It does not suggest the solidity and seriousness of the statesman.

"Probably it arose out of the popular love for a good fighting man. In the mind of the multitude 'Joe' stood for hard hitting and a spice of reckless adventurousness. George Meredith once spoke of Mr. Chamberlain's 'adventurous nose.' The affectionate nickname of 'Joe' was the epigram coined by the people to express the man behind that 'adventurous nose.'"

On Monday, at the Lalbazar Police Court, Calcutta, a European named J. H. Alexander was placed before Mr. Swinhoe, Chief Presidency Magistrate on a charge of deserting the Government Workhouse. It was alleged that he absconded to Bombay where he was detained in the Workhouse. But from there he absconded to Trichinopoly. He was arrested and, sent back to Bombay where he was released, he went again to Trichinopoly where he was imprisoned on a charge of assault. As the case came on the accused pleaded for pardon as he had been married only six months. The Magistrate, however, sentenced the accused to one month's rigorous imprisonment, observing "Marriage is no exculpating circumstance."

TIRED.

WORN-OUT AND RUN DOWN.

That's what many of us often find ourselves and are so often unable to find the cause. We grow fagged out over the ordinary day's work, listless and lifeless without any reason devoid of energy or ambition nights are passed sleeplessly. The appetite grows poor, we have no desire for work or even pleasure. Then come troubles of the nerves, the head, the stomach, the liver, bowels, blood, in fact the system is undermined. This wrecking at the system is appalling—but we are all liable to it any time just the same. Blood and nerve diseases are silent and insidious, they come without warning and do deadly work almost unnoticed. At the very first sign of the smallest symptom of such troubles, use that KING OF ALL REMEDIES.

PROF. JAMES' ELECTRO-TONIC PEARLS.

In Neurasthenia and the impotence of old age, this remedy gives especially marked results. Energy is in all cases quickly restored.

These Pearls build up the delicate tissues, and bring back to manhood all broken down and weary constitutions. They renew vitality, replace weakness with strength, keen wits for dulled brains, and transform the dejected and desponding into healthy and cheerful men and women.

BOMBAY UNIVERSITY.

DONATION FOR COMMERCIAL EDUCATION.

SENATE'S ACCEPTANCE.

A meeting of the Bombay University Senate was held yesterday evening in the Sir Cawasji Jehangir Hall of the University, Mr. Justice J. J. Heaton, Vice-Chancellor, presiding.

After the chairman had expressed the attitude of the Senate about the war in befitting words (a report of which appears in another column), the Senate on the motion of Mr. K. S. Aiyar seconded by Mr. V. P. Vaidya elected Dr. D. Mackichan as their representative on the Court of Visitors of the Indian Institute of Science, Bangalore.

Consideration was then given to an offer of Rs. 17,000 in three-and-a-half per cent. Government Promissory notes from Mr. Chandulal V. Divan, Solicitor, and Mrs. Mangaldass Harivallabhadass, the executor and executrix of Mr. Mangaldass, Harivallabhdass, deceased, for the foundation of three scholarships in the name of the deceased for the encouragement of the study of commerce among the Hindus.

As recommended by the Syndicate, Mr. K. S. Aiyar moved that the offer be accepted with the best thanks of the Senate. In doing so, the mover said that the Syndicate had considered the point that sectional donations were objectionable but they could not override the terms of the will of the deceased which contained such a term and the Syndicate recommended this proposal so that they might not lose this donation.

Mr. B. V. Mehta seconded the proposition.

OPPOSITION TO SECTIONAL OFFERS.

Mr. K. Natarajan opposed the adoption of the resolution. He said that he was glad to find that the mover recognised that sectional offers were objectionable. Hindus, no doubt, were a large community but they could not make a distinction when they had to apply a principle. It would be invidious, he remarked, to accept offers of endowments for Hindus and to refuse to accept offers for Mahomedan and Parsi students. He thought it was high time that the University should once for all refuse these sectional offers. There was no provision for efficiency in this kind of scholarships, which could be easily distributed by a committee of Hindus. The University was for all classes and communities.

Sir Ramkrishna Bhandarkar also opposed the proposition. He said that the University was for all communities and that character should not be lost sight of or trampled upon.

Principal Paranjpye further supported the objection and a further argument that he advanced was that there were many scholarships for the Degree of commerce and for the purposes of encouraging the study of commerce no more scholarships were required. He asked the Senate to reject the offer.

Moulvie Rafiuddin Ahmed supported the proposition. He said that his community was just awakening and to check the flow of charity by adopting this new principle would be doing injustice to his community and would amount to taking advantage of their backwardness in the past.

Mr. N. G. Velinkar also supported the original motion. He said that the Hindu community formed two-thirds of the entire population and it would be taking a narrow view of things to say that it was a sectional scholarship.

Mr. V. P. Vaidya opposed the resolution and moved that the matter be referred back to the Syndicate.

Mr. Bhate seconded the proposal.

Mr. Padhye supported the original proposal on the ground that, they would be shutting out the fountains of charity in search of high principles.

The Rev. Dr. Mackichan supported the proposal of accepting the offer and yet he was glad that several members had raised their protest against the sectarian character of the scholarship. He supported the proposal this time for it he saw a distinct advance, namely, that it was not restricted to that section of the donor's community but was open for all members of the Hindu community. That he said, would not draw them backwards but it would be a step in the direction of unsectarianism towards which they were all striving.

Mr. C. H. Setalvad pointed out that no purpose would be served by referring the matter back to the Syndicate, who had appointed a special committee to consider this question and who had come to this conclusion after mature deliberations and considerable negotiations with the donor's executors. They were asked to reopen the negotiations and request the donor to widen the field of charity by extending it to all the communities but that was not possible as the testator had restricted the gift to Hindus only in his will and they could not go beyond the terms of the will.

Several other speakers having addressed the Senate, Mr. Vaidya's proposal of referring the matter back to the Syndicate was put to the vote and lost and the original proposition carried.

THE PRESS ACT.

STRICTER OBSERVANCE OF REQUIREMENTS NEEDED.

The following Press Note has been issued by the Bombay Government:—

In a Press Note issued in October 1911, Government drew the attention of all keepers of printing presses and publishers to the provisions of section 3 of Act XXV of 1867, in distinct terms. Judging, however, from the frequency with which cases of neglect to satisfy the formal requirements of the Press Act are being brought to the notice of Government, it appears that the information conveyed in the said Press Note has not received due attention.

The attention of all concerned is, therefore once more drawn to the provisions of the said section, which requires that every book or paper printed within British India shall have printed legibly on it—

(i) the name of the printer;
(ii) the place of printing; and
(iii) if the book or paper be published, then (a) the name of the publisher and (b) the place of publication.

As regards (i), it should be particulary noted that the printing of the name of a company association, or society is not sufficient, but the name of some particular individual must be clearly given. Mere initials will not meet the requirements of the section but the name should be printed in full.

As regards (ii), the printing of the name of a street or locality is not sufficient; the name of the city or town in which the press is situated must be given along with that of the press itself.

As regards (iii), it should be distinctly understood that every book published must bear the name of the publisher and the place of publication, (that is, the name of the city or town, and not merely the name of the street or locality, in which the book is published). If the author or editor is himself the publisher, that fact should be so stated in clear terms, the name of the author or editor being repeated in full, in the proper place, as that of the publisher.

The attention of all concerned is furthor invited to the penalties provided by section 12 of Act XXV of 1867, which runs as follows: "Whoever shall print or publish any book or paper otherwise than in conformity with the rule contained in section 3 of this Act, shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be punished by fine not exceeding five thousand rupees, or by simple imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years, or by both."

Dr. Rash Behari Ghosh's example has been followed by Mr. Narottam M. Goculdass, late Sheriff of Bombay, who has informed Mrs. Besant that he has written to the Hon. Dr. Sundarlal, that he does not approve of Government control of the proposed Hindu University and withdraws his promised subscription.

The Magnetic Girl.

How She Compels Others To Obey Her Will.

100,000 Copies of Remarkable Book describing peculiar Psychic Powers to be distributed Post Free to readers of "The Calcutta "Indian Daily News."

"The wonderful power of Personal Influence, Magnetism, Fascination, Mind Control, call it what you will, can surely be acquired by everyone no matter how unattractive or unsuccessful," says Mr. Elmer Ellsworth Knowles, author of the new book entitled: "The Key to the Development of the Inner Forces." The book lays bare many astounding facts concerning the practices of the Eastern yogis, and describes a simple though effective system of controlling the thoughts and acts of others; how one may gain the love and friendship of those who might otherwise remain indifferent; how to quickly and accurately judge the character and disposition of an individual; how to cure the most obstinate diseases and habits without drugs or medicines; even the complex subject of projecting thoughts (telepathy) is explained. Miss Josephine Davis, the popular stage favourite, whose portrait appears herewith, declares that Prof. Knowles' book opens the door to success, health, and happiness to every mortal, no matter what his or her position in life. She believes that Prof. Knowles has discovered principles which, if universally adopted, will revolutionise the mental status of the human race.

The book, which is being distributed broadcast free of charge, is full of photographic reproductions showing how these unseen forces are being used all over the world, and how thousands upon thousands have developed powers which they little dreamed they possessed. The free distribution of the 100,000 copies is being conducted by a large London institution, and a copy will be sent post free to anyone interested. No money need be sent but those who wish to do so may enclose 2 annas (stamps of your own country) to cover postage, etc. All requests for the free book should be addressed to: National Institute of Sciences, Free Distribution Dept. 403, H. No. 258 Westminster Bridge Road, London, S.E. England Simply say you would like a copy of "The Key to the Development of the Inner Forces," and mention "The Calcutta Indian Daily News."

The closing of the Home Markets owing to the war has effectively put a stop to all cotton business in those Markets. A panic and the attendant innumerable failures has been averted, and a suspension of all dealings in futures, as also spot transactions, has been enforced until in the opinion of the directors of the various cotton exchanges it is advisable to resume business. This action should meet with the approval of all concerned. Regarding transactions falling due at the end of this month nothing so far is known. A rumour is current here that all outstanding contracts are to be transferred to January February delivery. We give this for what it may be worth.

In the Local Market there has been a slump in prices both for ready and forward. It is impossible to quote with any accuracy and business is practically at a standstill. The Market is closed to-day and to-morrow. Some settlements have been made in the bazaar between dealers. A commission house was reported to have sold a line of fully good Bengal January early in the week. Export business has stopped and houses are doing nothing. A few sales of ready cotton have been made during the week to Local Mills.

In the present state of the Market, reports regarding the growing crop have no effect on prices, but it is satisfactory to note that the Indian crop is doing well. There has been less rain during the past week and the plants are flourishing, but what is now generally, required for the best results is ten days' or a fortnights' sunshine.

At a meeting of cotton merchants and millowners held at Colaba this afternoon it was decided to close the market for ready Cotton until the 17th inst. unless in the mean while the home markets reopen.

LOCAL YARNS.

The market is quiet and owing to the unsettled position of cotton and the uncertainty of China Exchanges, no business has taken place during the past week.

WHEAT AND SEEDS.

These markets are also disorganised owing to the war and the local markets are closed. Quotations are quite nominal, and it is therefore useless to give same.

MANCHESTER COTTON PIECEGOODS & YARN MARKET REPORT.

(From our Correspondent.)

Aug. 7.

There is little of information to report this week. The present political conditions have brought trade to a tantalizing position. General expectations are that all surrounding circumstances will lead to a sharp demand, and large stock holders far from calculating their losses, may find decent margins to their credit side. For the present at least, the despondency, the war has caused, has damped the zeal of uncountry buyers to buy the zeal which the favourable monsoon and the long past apathy had necessarily created. The stocks no doubt are heavy, but if the supply is starved, certainly a demand, most favourable must crop up.

The large staple styles, grey and bleached cloths have moved slowly, and we hear in some cases, possible decent sales have been avoided, the firmer attitude, of the seller owing to the present crisis and to a little extent compelled by the unfavourable exchange, being responsible for the same. Where stocks are very heavy, this may not be considered a safe policy, but heavy stocks at present mean heavy losses, and it may stand to reason that our dealers are not quite wrong under existing time to check the sales to a reasonable extent Prints dyed goods, fancies have all been inquired after in fair retail quantities, sellers and buyers, particularly the latter appearing cautions, as they do not find it possible to judge exactly the right moment for their operations.

Yarns:—The small stock on our side has permitted dealers to enhance the local prices both in double and single yarns a rise from ½ to ¾ anna a lb. is reported 2/40 cross reels are better sought, and the small stock in the count has allowed a fair margin to the dealers. Mercerised yarns have shown no improvement, both in bundles and warps.

BOMBAY AMUSEMENTS.

IMPERIAL CINEMA.

The fine films secured by the management here lately have been the talk of Charni Road picture palace frequenters and certainly the star films have been exceedingly good. This week another big production has been booked, a real sensational picture called "Into the Alyss, or The Car of Destruction." Included in the list this week are two Pathe comedians. "Wiffles the Flower of Chivalry" and "Jun the Terror of Ladies." Both of these artistes are great favourites at this end of the city, and are always a welcome feature on the programme. A French film "Athletic Exercise in the French Army" should be very popular as we shall see how our allies train during the training seasons. Pathe's Gazette fills the programme.

AMERRICA-INDIA CINEMA.

At the America-India Cinema this week is to be shown a sensational drama in three parts, dealing with the inner life of the city of New York, and is adapted from Dion Boucicault's well-known play, "The Streets of New York." What Eugene Sue and Zola did for Paris, Boucicault has done for New York. He, has shown in a very graphic and impressive manner the terrible hardships and sufferings of the poor in a big city, and the evil effect on society of the commercial improbity of rapacious and unscrupulous persons, who think nothing of crushing the poor and defenceless under their heel, so long as they can satisfy their thirst for dollars. It is a film which will certainly interest all.

DEATH OF MR. A HABIBHOY, C. I. E.

We regret to announce the death of Mr Ahmedbhoy Habibhoy, C.I.E., one of the wealthiest Khoja merchants in Bombay at the ripe age of eighty at his residence in Mandvi.

The deceased was a senior director of the Bank of Bombay and was the chairman of that Board for several years. Mr. Ahmedbhoy was known to Bombay as one of the greatest litigants and even now no less than four of his appeals are hanging fire in the Privy Council, while several had been disposed of during his life time, not to say anything about his suits pending in the High Court. His charities during his life time could not be said to be numerous but it is possible that further disclosures may reveal the fact that he has left a substantial sum for charitable purposes.

DEPARTURE OF PROF. L. PELTIER.

The French students of the Wilson College presented yesterday a parting address to their Professor, M. Louis Peltier, who is leaving for France to-day by the outgoing P. & O. Mail in response to the call of the French Government to join his regiment and serve his country. Rev. Dr. Mackichan, Principal, who presided, briefly related the circumstances under which Prof. Peltier was going and said that he was going from peaceful duties of a Professor to military duties and that his duty towards his motherland had a prior claim. He wished him and his country success in the war and that he might return soon to India to resume his work among his students.

Mr. R. N. Katrak then read the address in French after which a beautiful silver vase with sweet-smelling flowers was presented to him and he was garlanded by one of the lady students.

Prof. Peltier thanking his students for their kindness, said he had no words to give adequate expression to the feelings which were surging in his heart and that he would treasure the vase as a token of the esteem and regard in which he was held by his students.

The proceedings were terminated by three vociferous cheers proposed by Dr. Mackichan, after which a photograph was taken of Prof. Louis Peltier.

DAILY MORTALITY RETURNS.

The total mortality from all causes on Thursday was 85, as against 86 on the corresponding day of 1913 and 99 in 1912. The total number of rats caught by the municipal rat-catchers on Thursday was 1403, out of which eight were found to be plague infected, C Ward contributing seven of these latter and B Ward one.

FOOD SUPPLY OF BOMBAY.

GOVERNMENT RESOLUTION FOR FIXED RATES.

The following Notification has been issued by the Political Department of the Government of Bombay:—

Bombay Castle, Aug. 7.

No. 4524.—Necessaries of life must not be sold above certain prices which will be fixed by Government in consultation with a committee of citizens. Government invite the assistance of citizens to form an association for the sale of food-stuffs at the rates so fixed for the benefit of the poorer classes of the City. Government will be glad to assist the association by arranging for the import of grain from other places, and Government reserve the right of securing stocks now in Bombay, if this is found to be necessary for the food supply of the City.

The following bataki was beaten yesterday morning throughout the City with a view to allay the present excitement caused by the artificial inflation in prices of food stuffs:—

"The Government are considering the question of the increase in the prices of articles of food etc., owing to the war. They have decided to fix the prices of articles and this will be done to-morrow or the day after; and this will prevent shopkeepers from raising the prices of articles beyond the rate fixed by Government. It is hoped that the spread of the report throughout the City will lessen the excitement at present prevailing."

This had a very salutary effect on the public, who expressed sentiments of gratitude to the authorities.

APPOINTMENT OF FOOD PRICES COMMITTEE.

A meeting of a few citizens of Bombay was held yesterday morning at the Municipal Office under the presidenship of Mr. F. R. Cadell, C.I.E., I.C.S., to consider what steps should be taken to regulate the prices of food supplies in the City. Amongst those present were Mr. Velji Lakhamsi and other representatives of the Grain Merchants Association. They assured the meeting that they were quite willing to co-operate with any Committee that might be formed for the purpose and to exert their best influence against any attempts to force up prices.

It was resolved that a general Committee be formed to deal with the question in consultation with the representatives of the Grain Merchants Association and principal rice, ghee and sugar merchants. Two sub-committees were also appointed one to ascertain the stocks in hand and to draw up, in consultation with the representatives of the Grain Dealers Association and principal merchants, a schedule of prices both wholesale and retail in excess of which dealers should not be allowed to charge and another for drawing up a scheme for establishing, in case of need, depots or shops for the sale of food-stuff and for approaching employers of labour so as to arrange for food-stuff being supplied to labourers at moderate prices Amongst the members of the Committee are Mr. P. R. Cadell (Chairman), Mr. S M. Edwardes, Mr. A. H. Simcox, the Hon'ble Sir Fazulbhoy Currimbhoy, Sir Vasanji Tricumji, the Hon'ble Mr. Fazulbhoy M. Chinoy, the Hon'ble Mr. Munmohundass Ramji, the Hon'ble Mr. Lalloobhai Samaldas, Mr. Narottam Morarji Goculdas, Mr. Dinsha E. Wacha, Mr. Jehangir B. Petit, Mr. Cawasji Jehangir, Mr. Purshottamdas Thakordas, Mr. Chunilal Mehta, Dr. Sukhia, Dr. Javle, Mr. S. E. Warden, Mr. Ruttonsi Mulji, Rao Bahadur Vasanji Khimji, Mr. Velji Lakhamsi, Mr. Khetsey Khaisi, Mr. Ranchoddas Thackersey, and Mr. R. P. Masani. (Hon Secretary).

In course of the day, the Commissioner of Police interviewed several merchants in the market and outside and warned them against their action in artificially raising the prices and gave them to understand very distinctly that severe notice would be taken if the traders persisted in this device of theirs. This warning was sufficient and the rates in all commodities were practically restored to what they were a few days ago.

The licensed money changers who were either refusing to accept currency notes or charging a commission of one rupee per every ten rupee note were also warned, and as a result the old state of affairs again existed during the evening and the public expressed their gratefulness to his Excellency Lord Willingdon's Government and the Commissioner of Police for the prompt action that they had taken in the matter.

BELHI CONSPIRACY CASE.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

DELHI, Aug. 7.

When the Conspiracy Case was resumed to-day, evidence was given to show that Nanu Lal had not consorted with the accused Nanak Chand. A Lahore barrister whose father Mr. Lakhpat Rai is defending Balraj, said he had received a Depressed Classes pamphlet in February. When witness read Charandas' statement he asked his father to find out if there was a slip on the leaflet. He had altered the date from March to an earlier date. Witness said he did not realise the importance of his evidence with reference to the pamphlet. In spite of his friendship with Balraj and his respect for Hansraj, witness said he did not take sufficient interest in the case to read the reports of it. He had asked his father once or twice about the case against Balraj but not his defence. Witness could call no one to corroborate his statement about the date of his receipt of the pamphlet. Professor Hakim Ali of the Islamia College, described the police search and enquiry with regard to Fazl Karim. Witness was not present all the time in the room where the police were and could not say what happened there in his absence. The Court there rose for the day.

THE BOMBAY CHRONICLE.
(Saturday, August 8, 1914.)

INDIA AND THE WAR.

Though the war has as yet been in progress only a few days, this early stage has been crowded with incident to an extent that would hardly have been expected. This may be due to the rapidity with which it was essential that the Germans should develop their initial movement over the Belgian frontier, which under different circumstances, it might have been possible to approach in more leisurely fashion. But it was of vital importance to their chances to attempt to set their feet well in Belgian territory before the Belgians could enjoy the support of the French or English. Fortunately, up to the present. If the reports are to be believed, their efforts have signally failed. The whole world will have watched with admiration and enthusiasm the splendid courage and ability with which the Belgians, who are contending against such great odds, have hitherto resisted the onslaught of their haughty and brutal neighbour. But it would not be wise to build too much on their power to continue the effective resistance that they have maintained till now. The German forces that are attempting to thrust their way across Belgium are probably powerful enough to withstand a good deal in the way of preliminary rebuffs, and by constant beating with superior strength against the obstacle in their way might at length achieve their object. The rapidity with which the French and English can come to their assistance is therefore of enormous importance. As to this a telegram to-day tells us of the machine-like precision with which the French mobilisation has been achieved, and it cannot be long before we hear of the development of the French movement on the Belgian frontier. We may expect also to hear at any moment, as soon as the censor thinks it fit and safe to open the cables to such news, of the landing of a British expeditionary force in France or Belgium As Sir Edward Grey has told us, conversations have long since taken place between the French and British experts as to the form in which a British force could co-operate with France in the event of both countries being involved in war with Germany, and it is no secret that the plan by which the British Expeditionary Force would afford that co-operation on the Belgian frontier is cut and dried. The only modification that may occur is that which may be brought about by the unexpectedly strong resistance of the Belgians, which may alter the venue of the first collision of the allied forces with the enemy and enable a more effective blow to be struck.

It is, however, on the part that the British Navy is to play that the interest of the British Empire will, perhaps, be primarily concentrated. At present, as far as the movements of the larger fleets are concerned we are in a state of entire ignorance,—and very properly so. Yesterday there was a telegram to the effect that firing had been heard all the afternoon off the north coast of Scotland, and that it was believed a naval engagement was in progress. This is the sort of report to which we shall, possibly, become accustomed during the next few days. It is hardly possible that the German Fleet would be caught in such a locality, though it may be the result of the interception of a German cruiser attempting to give the go-by to the British and to get out into the Atlantic. It is not, perhaps, likely that the British Home Fleet will get an opportunity for some time to come to give battle to the German First Fleet. There have been various reports as to the whereabouts of the latter. Before the war actually broke out it was reported to have proceeded to its stations on the Norwegian coast. This was a sort of announcement that the "mailed fist" was ready, but it is not improbable that when the intervention of Great Britain became imminent, the German Fleet left the open sea. What may or may not happen in the North Sea, however, is purely a matter of speculation, even by experts. No one can say whether the German Line of Battle will prefer to seek battle, or to play an idle part behind their harbour fortifications and submarine mines, and leave their smaller brethren to do what they can to exploit the seas and harass the enemy. It is better not to be an amateur strategist in time of war. The most confident predictions are apt to be falsified. But that there will be no lack of news of events on the sea is quite certain. Already the loss of one British vessel has to be chronicled. The Amphion was not an important warship being a light cruiser of only 3,000 tons, and her loss at the beginning of a great war, which must witness events of a much larger character, is not of great military importance. But it is, none the less, a tragedy and an accident which, in time of peace, would have been a moving national disaster. It is rendered more pathetic by the fact that the officers and crew had just performed the first important naval feat of the war, by sinking a German mine-layer in her daring exploit of attempting to enter the Thames,—only to be afterwards sunk by a submarine mine laid, probably, by this very vessel. As a triumph for the enemy the disaster to the Amphion is more than counterbalanced by the news that two German cruisers, which pursued the mammoth liner Lusitania, were chased by British warships and sunk.

We publish to-day in our advertisement columns the requisition which has been presented to the Sheriff of Bombay for the holding of a public meeting in Bombay to express the loyalty of the City at this grave juncture and the earnest desire of the people of Bombay to render to Government whatever services may be required of them. The requisition and the host of notable names attached to it are only representative of the feeling which animates the community, European and Indian, in this grave crisis of the Empire, and there is no doubt as to the eagerness of the public of Bombay to testify their sympathy and their anxiety to support in whatever way they can best do the Imperial Power in the prosecution of the war. This feeling, is general throughout the Indian Empire, if we are to judge by the expressions that have been made by public men and journals of all classes and shades of opinion. We continue to receive many letters from correspondents urging that this feeling should be given some tangible form. One gentleman, a responsible professional man, is carried so far by his enthusiasm as to urge that India should contribute "a huge sum for the formation or buying of a big fleet." It would certainly have to be a huge sum, as each big unit of a big fleet would cost by itself nearly two crores of rupees; and the war would probably be over before such a fleet could be built, and to buy it ready-made would be impossible. Some of our correspondents refer to the offers of the Dominions and ask why India lags behind. We would ask these loyal citizens, whose enthusiasm does them every credit, to pause and reflect that the probabilities of the tax-payers of India being called upon to contribute more to the cost of the war, than any of the Dominions are likely to be asked for, or to offer, are by no means remote. Mr. Asquith announced in the House of Commons on Thursday that India was prepared to send two divisions, and these may be called for very soon. In addition to this there are the splendid offers, so promptly and spontaneously expressed, of the ruling chiefs. This would be a contribution which none of the Dominions could hope to emulate, and it is premature, and, in fact, superfluous, to talk of raising public funds for the purpose of equipping, or contributing to the equipment, of forces. We have no desire to discourage the contribution of funds by the well-to-do classes, which might be utilised for the relief of the wounded and relatives of the killed; nor to discourage the spirit which is leading many young Indians to offer their services as Volunteers. On the contrary, that is a spirit which we think the Government should encourage in some tangible way. But the Viceroy has given practical form to the widely-expressed wish of the Indian public to help in bearing the burden of the war, and it will be sufficient to express approval of his action.

Notes of the Day

The Resignations.

Although the retirement of Lord Morley has been talked of for some time past, his resignation at the present juncture, and the apparent reason of it, is gravely to be regretted, because the Cabinet can ill-afford to lose a statesman of his great weight, ability and experience in such a grave crisis of affairs. The delay in announcing this and the other resignations had led one to anticipate that Lord Morley and his fellow dissidents had reconsidered their decision in view of the inevitability of the war. If Lord Morley had resigned before the question of Belgian neutrality arose, and on the assurance given to France to protect her Northern Coasts, his action would have been easier to understand, though even then, as a member of the Government which put a fresh seal on the Entente with France and extended it into the Triple Entente, he must have realised that it entailed certain obligations. But if Treaties mean anything at all, and are ever to have any binding force, it can only be by showing that their violation by one or any of the parties will be resisted by force if necessary. As Mr. Asquith said, the Belgians are fighting and losing their lives, and we should have covered ourselves with dishonour and betrayed the country if we had accepted Germany's infamous proposal.

Mr. Burns and Mr. Trevelyan.

Mr. John Burns shows by his resignation that, if he has changed in so many other respects, he is still an uncompromising Pacifist. Whether Battersea will approve of his anti-war attitude on this occasion, as it did in the case of the Boer War, remains to be seen. It is certainly doubtful, as the circumstances are very different on this occasion. The Cabinet, at any rate, does not lose much by Mr. Burn's departure but his voluntary surrender of an income of £5,000 a year on a matter of conscience should once and for all dispose of the many unkind things of his acceptance of a wage which is ten times as much as he once said any man is worth. Mr. Burns has for a long time been highly unpopular with the rank and file of his own party, some of whom declare that he is almost a Conservative, and he has, for long, been almost the most obscure member of the Cabinet. Mr. Trevelyan, the Secretary to the Board of Education, who has also resigned is the eldest son of Sir George Trevelyan. It is interesting to learn from "Who's Who" that among his recreations are "shooting" and "Kriegspiel." Perhaps he only approves of the latter when it is confined to the German language.

The Kaiser's Horoscope.

Kaiser Wilhelm's horoscope was cast by Mr. W. Old in 1898. His Imperial Majesty was born on January 22nd, 1859, at 3 p.m., at Potsdam, and, said Mr. Old:—

We find Saturn in the sign of its debility opposing the Sun in its weakest sign; Mars and Neptune conjoined in the Meridian and the Sun semisquare to both; the malefics—Neptune, Mars and Uranus—elevated, and the Moon in opposition to Uranus. The Emperor has a most fateful horoscope, and during his reign the German Empire will suffer reversals of which hitherto it has had no shadow of experience. The destiny of Kaiser Wilhelm is such that he will lose nearly the whole of his possessions. He will never be a popular monarch. Mars, in the meridian, will cause him to engage in continual quarrels, and the Sun in opposition to Saturn will denude him of his power among the nations. He will lose his royal spouse (the Moon in opposition to Uranus retrograde) suddenly. It is not improbable that his territory will pass into the hands of France and Russia. Those, at least, are the two powers who will contend for the possession of the Empire which the Kaiser is powerless to retain. Nothing more adverse or less royal than this horoscope of the Kaiser, except perhaps that of the Sultan of Turkey, is to be found among the Rulers of Europe. The Kaiser will die suddenly, and the heart will be the seat of the fatal affection.

Absurd Rumours.

The position in Bombay yesterday was substantially unaltered. Business is largely at a standstill, as has been the case all the week, and as it is likely to remain for some time. The many people who are thus rendered idle have time to discuss each development as it is reported in the special editions of the papers, and we imagine that some of them, finding that this does not occupy all their leisure, busy themselves in inventing or spreading the many wild rumours which are floating about the city. It is well known that a lie oft told becomes as the veritable truth to the teller, and this must have been the case with many otherwise veracious citizens of Bombay during the last day or two. How else can one explain the air of sincerity with which people one knows to be, as a general rule, quite straightforward, and truthful, buttonhole one and say that two German warships are cruising about off Aden; or that a German cruiser is on her way to Bombay from East Africa; or, even, most astounding folly of all, that one or two German ships of war are actually lurking about outside Bombay Harbour ready to fire on and sink any ship that leaves. These are only a few of the absurd stories which have been told to us recently, and one cannot but pity the people who bring themselves to believe them.

Village Punchayats in Dewas State.

Though not the first among the Indian States that has established, or rather revived, the ancient village punchayats in its territories, the little State of Dewas seems to have already achieved an amount of success in he working of the punchayat system. The Dewas State (2) Village Act, as the Punchayat Act in Dewas is known, came into operation from 1st June 1913, and from the Report just issued by the Durbar, we learn that no less than 81 village punchayats are in full working order by this time. Apart from what has been achieved in about a year in the way of decline of pretty litigation, improvement of village sanitation, and the like, a good deal of the interest and value of the present Report consists in the sidelight it throws on the activities of village committees in the State and on the promise they hold out of successful and beneficial local self-government in the course of time. For the present the civil jurisdiction of the punchayats in Dewas extends only to suits up to the value of Rs. 20 and criminal jurisdiction to cases of assault, petty thefts and damage, criminal trespass, drunkenness and insult and the like. Fine up to Rs. 10 may be imposed in criminal cases. The Punchayat Act makes it obligatory on every villager, on penalty of a small fine, to report every birth and death in his house, to inform the Patel of all criminal offences coming o his knowledge, to keep his surroundings in a sanitary condition, to assist in keeping village roads and tracts in good condition, and in extinguishing fires preventing the spread of epidemics and so on. The village punchayats are also entrusted with the control and management of the village schools, cattle-pounds and markets.

Some Interesting Facts.

We learn from the Report that "not less than 50 per cent. of the villagers have recorded their votes and generally the best men in the village have been packed out." Out of the 405 punches elected, only 136 14 punchayats out of the 56 at the beginning of the year there was not a single punch who was a literate! The advisability of improving the literacy of the could read and write, while in the case of punchas is being brought to the punchayats. "In the beginning some of the punchayats showed a marked tendency to spend the fund on pan suparis and costly articles of furniture and stationery." They were made to understand that this was against the whole spirit of the legislation. Applications for revision of punchayats' decree in civil cases were filed in duly five cases out of over 400 decided. There were 162 criminal cases, in 25 of which the accused were convicted on confession of guilt while in 11 the accused were acquitted after trial. In 99 cases the accused were convicted after trial, while 27 cases were compromised. The percentage of convictions was thus as high as 90 per cent. We read in one place that "the accused at first denied the charge, but when the punchas threatened to give him a sound thrashing he forthwith confessed his theft!" Again in one punchayat in which there were some mahajans a man was fined because he had shot an ownerless dog that bit him and he was further ordered to take care of the pups!" In spite of these peculiar cases the Report tells us there have been only six decisions of the punchayats which have had to be cancelled as being altogether obnoxious to law. On the whole, the conclusion of the special punchayat officer, Mr. B. V. Samarth, in regard to the year's working of the punchayat system is that "the large majority of villagers have yet to learn to take an intelligent interest in the doing of the punchas, but the prevailing opinion everywhere, except in a few places, is to welcome the punchayats as a great boon." The progress of the Dewas scheme will be watched with interest.

BRITISH NAVAL SUCCESS AND A DISASTER.

TWO GERMAN CRUISERS SUNK.

DISASTER TO H. M. S. AMPHION

DESTROYED BY SUBMARINE MINE.

BELGIANS' BRILLIANT SUCCESS.

GERMANS DECISIVELY REPULSED.

The first naval casuality suffered by the British is reported. The light cruiser Amphion after sinking a German mine-layer that was approaching the Thames, herself struck a submarine mine and was sunk. The Paymaster and 130 men were drowned, including 30 German prisoners.

A report has been received by wireless telegraphy that two German cruisers which pursued the liner Lusitania were chased by British warships and sunk.

A German torpedo-boat is reported to have been blown up off the Dutch coast.

There are persistent reports of a great naval battle in the North Sea, but there is no official confirmation. Had such an event occurred it is probable that the official Admiralty announcement would have given the first news

The repulse of the Germans on the Belgian Frontier appears to have been of a very decisive character, after a very determined attack. The Belgians made a counter-attack which was completely successful. The German losses were very heavy and are reported to have amounted to eight thousand. German troops passing over ground underlaid with mines were decimated. Their cavalry succeeded in entering Liège but were exterminated.

Lord Kitchener has asked the Government for half-a-million more men and Mr. Asquith will submit the proposal to Parliament.

ENGLAND.

ENGLAND'S HONOUR.

STATEMENT BY THE PREMIER.

INDIA'S HELP.

LONDON, Aug. 6.

Mr. Asquith has announced in the House of Commons that Earl Kitchener has asked for powers to increase the Army by half a million men.

LATER.

Speaking in the House of Commons today, Mr. Asquith said, that Parliamentary papers showed how strenuous had been Sir Edward Grey's efforts in the direction of peace. He denounced Germany's proposals and laid special stress upon the pathetic appeal made by the Belgians. The Belgians were fighting and losing their lives. (Cheers). We should have covered ourselves with dishonour and have betrayed the interests of our country if we had accepted Germany's infamous proposal. ((Cheers).

The Government was fully conscious of the terrible consequences of war. The country might be well assured that the Government was confident that it was unsheathing the sword in a just cause. We were fighting in the first place to fulfil an international obligation, and secondly to vindicate the principle that small nations must not be crushed in defiance of international good faith at the arbitrary will of a strong and overmastering Power. Great Britain was striking in defence of the maintenance of the vital civilisation of the world.

"Now let us make sure," said Mr. Asquith, "that all the resources of the Empire are thrown into the scale." He explained that Earl Kitchener's appointment was a non-political one. He had responded to a great public call in a great emergency. He would have the confidence of all parties. The Premier said that he was encouraged to ask for power for Earl Kitchener's half million men not only owing to the gravity of the circumstances but to the knowledge that India was prepared to send two divisions, while the Dominions were spontaneously offering the utmost help. Thus the Mother Country must set an example while responding with gratitude and affection to these filial overtures.

DEVIOUS GERMAN DIPLOMACY.

SIR E. GREY'S STRUGGLE TO PRESERVE PEACE.

DISGRACEFUL BARGAIN REJECTED.

LONDON, Aug. 6, 4-5 a.m.

A bluebook in which is published the correspondence during the European crisis shows Eir Edward Grey's struggle to preserve peace, and Germany's devious diplomacy.

The most interesting despatches were those sent by the British Ambassador, Sir William Goschen, to Sir Edward Grey on July 29th recording conversation with Dr. von Bethmann Hollweg.

The latter, fearing a European conflagration, offered to respect French territory in return for British neutrality.

Sir William Goschen asked about the French colonies, and Dr. von Bethmann Hollweg replied that he was unable to give an undertaking on that subject.

The Despatch from Sir Edward Grey to Sir William Goschen, dated July 30th, said that such a bargain at the expense of France would be a disgrace from which the good name of England would never recover.

The despatch of July 30th, from Sir Maurice de Bunsen, British Ambassador in Vienna, to Sir Edward Grey said that Sir Maurice had been informed that the German Ambassador had telegraphed to the Emperor William the text of the Austrian ultimatum to Servia, before it was despatched.

Sir Edward Grey on August 4th, demanded the release of the British ships detained in German ports, which he maintained was in contravention of international law.

BOMBAY UNIVERSITY SENAT RESOLUTION.

"TO BEAR OURSELVES WITH LOYALTY AND FORTITUDE."

At a meeting of the Bombay University Senate held yesterday evening in the Sir Cawasji Jehangir Hall of the University, The Hon. Mr. Justice J. J. Heaton, Vice-Chancellor, presiding, the Chairman at the outset in addressing the members of the senate, said: Before proceeding to the business of the meeting I wish to say a very few words. For the first time in the life of our University, the Empire is at war with a European power. For nearly sixty years in Europe we have had peace. During those years our University has been born; it has shared in the growth of the Empire and been sheltered under its protection. It is our boast that we have had no small share in the intellectual advancement of Western India and that in a special degree we represent its intelligence and its instructed opinion. It is not fitting then that we should now be silent. I wish to put before you a form of words to express our attitude. There is no doubt what it is. Some of you would be able to find better words than mine in which to express it but the essential meaning would be the same. There would be no division of opinion there. The form I have chosen is this "it is our duty and our privilege to bear ourselves with loyalty and fortitude" (applause).

BRITAIN'S RIGHTEOUS STRUGGLE.

REFERENCE AT BOMBAY MILL OWNERS' MEETING.

A special general meeting of the Bombay Mill-owners' Association was held yesterday afternoon for the purpose of discussing a form of country piece-goods contract recently adopted by the Association.

The Chairman, Mr. Narottum Morarji Goculdas, in opening the meeting, spoke as follows:—Before we begin the proceedings of the meeting, allow me to say that in common with our fellow subjects in all parts of the country we deeply deplore the state of hostility in which our gracious and beloved Majesty, King-Emperor George V has been forced in order to protect those smaller Kingdoms whose neutrality has been so ruthlessly violated, and secure to them that guarantee which has been so long ratified by treaty. In this honourable and righteous struggle in which England, in spite of all persuasive diplomacy, has been involved, we fervently pray that by the mercy of Providence there may be vouchsafed complete victory to her arms, leading to tranquility at an early date. Meanwhile it is the duty of us all to declare that we are all more than ever attached to the British Throne and give expression to our wholehearted devotion and unswerving allegiance to His Imperial Majesty the King-Emperor."

SIR S. SUBRAMUNIA IYER.

ON INDIA'S PARAMOUNT DUTY.

(Associated Press.)

MADRAS, Aug. 7.

Sir S. Subramania Iyer K.C.I.E., writes t the "Madras Mail":—

"Having regard to the recent message of confidence in India which the Viceroy forwarded to England and the spontaneous outburst of loyalty evoked by it in other parts of India, it is important that all classes of citizens of Madras should at once come forward to declare their participation in such loyalty at this critical juncture. Such chorus of devotion and allegiance to the Throne proceeding from millions of his Majesty's Indian subjects cannot but have very reassuring effect upon the public opinion in Europe and remove and possible doubt about our unflinching devotion ti our Sovereign. It is certain that no thinking man in this country fails to appreciate at this moment how indisolubly the interests of India, nay those of civilisation in the whole world, are bound up with the integrity of the British Empire, therefore no sacrifice should be held to be too great for us in the cause of England's victory. This is the time for us to prove that ours is not lip loyalty but one which is true, deep, and sincere. The example set by the Irish Nationaliste, Ulsterites, and even militant suffragettes in sinking their own differences in the face of a common enemy should not be lost upon us. Like them we should forget and bury for the moment all thought concerning our own grievances, which after all weigh as nothing in the balance as against the blessings of peace in the Empire and the security of his Majesty's dominions. Only then our prayers for the success of the Imperial forces will be whole-hearted, unalloyed, and pure.

"I think public meetings ought to be held in every town in the Presidency and the position of affairs explained to the people also in the vernaculars, so that the whole population may be enabled to grasp the situation and join in the efforts made to support Government in every possible way. Of course, steps should at once be taken for convening a public meeting in the city of Madras for the purpose."

EFFECT OF WAR IN KARACHI.

AMERICAN CONSULS NOTICE.

(Associated Press.)

KARACHI, Aug. 6.

Following yesterday's announcement that war has broken out between Britain and Germany some of the shopkeepers and tradesmen of Karachi met together to consider the question of retail prices and decided to increase all rates by 25 per cent. in the case of credit customers but to leave the the present prices unchanged in the case of cash purchasers.

The sugar rate for "ready" in Karachi has advanced to Rs. 14 per cwt.

The American Consul in Karachi has issued a consular notification to American citizens here in which he says:—

You are hereby notified that owing to the present international conditions any hostile act or expressed intention thereof on your part against the British Government, central or local, will render you liable to immediate arrest and trial by the British authorities. This consulate requests strict neutrality in act and word on the part of American citizens within its limits.

KARACHI MONEY MARKET TROUBLES.

KARACHI, Aug. 7.

Business in Karachi remains at a standstill. Code telegrams to Bombay and other Indian centres are now again accepted but not to London. The exchange banks are unable to guarantee payment in London unless they are allowed to use their check ciphers which are necessary to prevent mistake s and fraud. T.T. being impossible, D.D. or slightly better might be obtained, but importers fear that there will be no mail.

It is strongly hoped that British banks, run by responsible British subjects, will ere long be allowed to cable in cipher to their head offices in London.

LATER

The British, Russian and French flags are flying over the Brigade Office in Karachi. Major-General Shaw is in command.

The banks in Karachi have been privileged to use ciphers under certain restrictions.

POSITIVE CHARACTER OF INDIA'S LOYALTY.

The "Sind Gazette" writes:—"The sentiment that appears to be uppermost in the Indian mind in Karachi goes beyond what is ordinarily conveyed by the abstract word loyalty. The Indian loyalty of to-day is distinctly a positive quality and is characterised by a strong, we might almost say an intense desire to manifest itself. Indian loyalty is at this moment earnestly casting about for ways in which to express itself more visibly than in words."

"With admirable political delicacy Indians here have no thought of putting forward suggestions which might seem to carry any sort of military bearing, but they entertain a sincere desire that the Government should somehow be assured that in the possible contingency of the garrison in India or any portion thereof being required for service elsewhere India's staunch loyalty may be implicitly relied upon."

BRITISH CENSORSHIP,

(Associated Press.)

SIMLA, August 7.

It is notified that in view of the recent declaration of war with Germany and the extreme necessity of maintaining secrecy regarding military and navy movements the Governor-General proposes to promulgate an ordinance prohibiting the publication of news relating to the movements and dispositions of His Majesty's forces or to works undertaken for the defence of the British Empire, save where such information has been supplied for publication by Government or has been approved by a Government censor. Any contraventions of the provisions of the Ordinance will constitute an offence and any matters so published will be liable to confiscation. Prosecutions under the Ordinance will only be allowed upon complaints made or under authority from the Governor-General in Council, a Local Government or an officer empowered in this behalf by the Governor-General in Council and will be triable only by District and Sub-Divisional, or Presidency Magistrates. The Ordinance is designed as a measure of precaution in exceptional circumstances of great gravity. It is hoped that the loyal co-operation of the press, upon which the Government of India confidently rely, will render any resort to its provisions unnecessary

MADRAS CITIZENS' LOYALTY.

READY FOR ANY SACRIFICE.

(Associated Press.)

MADRAS, August 7.

The Sheriff of Madras has telegraphed to the Private Secretary to Viceroy the following:—

"Pray convey to H. E. Viceroy on behalf of the citizens of Madras the profound loyalty of all classes and creeds to the Government of his Imperial Majesty. They are offering their devout prayer to the Almighty for the success of British arms and are ready for any sacrifice for the sake of the King and Empire.

CALCUTTA PLEADER'S CORPS.

(Associated Press.)

CALCUTTA, Aug. 7.

Police Court pleaders have submitted a petition to the Chief Secretary, Bengal Government, asking for permission to be allowed to form a corps of volunteers with the Chief Presidency Magistrate as community officer. Pleaders of the Alipur courts are also petitioning Government for similar permission.

CALCUTTA MARWARIS LEAVE CITY.

(Associated Press.)

CALCUTTA, Aug. 7.

An amusing panic seems to have caused among the Marwari community owing to a rumour being spread that martial law would soon be proclaimed in Calcutta. Yesterday a large number of Marwaris left Calcutta for Rajputana with their wives and children. These Marwaris are reported to have converted all the paper money they had into gold.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE FUNCTIONS CANCELLED.

GANESHKHIND, Aug. 7.

The Military Secretary to his Excellency the Governor wires:—

Owing to the war his Excellency the Governor is moving to Bombay and in consequence all dinner parties, the purdah party and the Bail at Government House, Ganeshkhind are cancelled.

THE MAILS.

The incoming mail steamer India arrived in harbour shortly before 6 o'clock yesterday evening.

It had been rumoured that the Homeward mail steamer Caledonia, which was due to go out to-day, would not sail. A "Chronicle" representative asked Mr. Bufney, Superintendent of the P. and O. Company in Bombay, last evening, and was told that the vessel would sail as usual.

PATHANS AND MARWARIS.

There are a great many Pathans employed at the docks in Bombay, who are now out of work owing to the partial closing of the docks and the police are making arrangements for them.

A large number of Marwaris have left the city during the last two days, for their native towns and villages.

AT THE CURRENCY OFFICE.

People are still besieging the Currency Office changing notes for rupees, and it is estimated that over ten lakhs have been paid out in silver since the rush began. And there are still plenty of rupees left.

TRAGIC DEATH OF A PROMISING YOUNG MAN.

Burnt to death with his wife by a night lamp.

THE "Leader" Allahabad in its issue of the 24th June. 1914, published the following hair-stirring article:—

"My. Kashi Prasad Srivastava was formerly a student of the Jubbulpore Government College, where he took his degrees in 1912. He then joined the Muir Central College, Allahabad, for his M.A., and creditably passed his Previous in the second division last year He had appeared in his final M.A., and was passing his days of vacation with his brother at Jubbulpore, who is a camp clerk to the Registrar, co-operative credit society there.

On the night of the 14th last, he and his wife were sleeping together in a room which had a lamp burning near the bed. Some how or other the flame caught the bed and then the room and both of them were burnt to death!

"It was very recently known to us that our bereaved friend had passed his final M.A., in the second division!

"He was gentle, intelligent and a promising youth, with a heart full of love and sympathy for all! The death of such a noble heart is highly deplorable!"

LONDON LETTER.

THE ULSTER CRISIS.

THE KING AND THE CONFERENCE

LIBERAL PRESS AND H.M.'S SPEECH.

THE ACCEPTANCE OF HOME RULE.

The moving events of the Mail week have completely overwhelmed the interest in the Ulster crisis, which was so exciting the public mind a fortnight ago, but our correspondent's letter discussing the affair at the time the Conference was sitting will, none the less, be read with keen interest.

(From our Correspondent.)

LONDON, July 24.

"For months we have watched with deep misgivings the course of events in Ireland. The trend has been surely and steadily towards an appeal to force, and to-day the cry of civil war is on the lips of the most responsible and sober-minded of my people." If the King had not used these words in the speech with which he opened the Conference at Buckingham Palace on Tuesday, we should probably not have heard one-tenth of the rumour and conjecture, the heated discussion and recrimination, which have marked the progress of events during the week. The point is that the King did use them, and ever since the whole army of politicians and journalists have been employed in explaining them or explaining them away. Some very foolish people appear to have convinced themselves at the beginning that the speech was written by the Prime Minister himself, or at least that it was written, like a speech from the Throne, on behalf of the Government. Nothing could be more absurd.

But let us begin at the beginning. It had for some time been fairly obvious that the session would not end without another Conference on Home Rule, and no one would have been in the least surprised if the suggestion had come directly from the Sovereign, as the Conference on the Gladstone Franchise Bill came in 1884. But the news sprung on the country last Monday morning was startling, among other reasons because it revealed the King as an active intervener. The news, by the bye, reached the public only through "The Times" and the "Daily Mail," a circumstance which aroused the keenest resentment in the Press. Lord Northcliffe, evidently stung by the comments of his contemporaries, (not by any means confined to his opponents,) retorted that the information might have been obtained equally by any paper with an efficient news service. But that is not so. As a matter of fact the news of the Conference was known among Liberal journalists before the announcement appeared; but it was given to them in confidence and the confidence was respected. This, however, is a little matter between the Government and the Ministerial Press, and it may be that the Prime Minister, always prone, even in these days, to favour "The Times," has now learned the lesson that was effectually administered in India by Lord Curzon in the lesson of equal treatment of the Press. It is unfortunately true that the method of the announcement created a wrong kind of atmosphere altogether, and Mr. Asquith had in consequence to address a chilly and unfriendly House. Other points of greater importance are the King's action, the meeting at Buckingham Palace, the opening by His Majesty, the wording of the speech, the chairmanship of the Speaker, and above all the summoning of Sir Edward Carson and Captain Craig. The whole thing is unprecedented, and since it is so perhaps we need not trouble about such secondary circumstances as the place of meeting and the choice of chairman.

THE CROWN AS A PARTY ASSET.

One of the most sinister features of the present situation is the ease and certainty with which, at every fresh turn, the Crown is made use of as a party asset. Continually throughout the Ulster agitation the Government has had to be prepared for this, but good as former opportunities have been, none of them could compare with the present one, and it has been exploited to the utmost. See how it has worked out. When the fact of the summoning of the Conference was made known it was plain that Liberals were dubious. They did not know where the Cabinet stood. If Mr. Asquith had made the announcement in due form to the Commons there would have been no trouble and probably no misgiving. But the Prime Minister cannot have failed to realise that the apparent disregard of Parliament, and the inclusion of the Ulster rebel leaders, would be resented by his own supporters, and if he did not foresee the outcry that would be caused by the reference to Civil War his mind must have been asleep. For the first two days both sides were thoroughly pessimistic. It appeared that nobody entertained any real hope of agreement through the Conference. But when the Opposition newspapers woke up to the force of the Liberal distress and anger at the King's speech, they made themselves the champions of the Conference (in which they had before professed complete disbelief) and began furiously to manufacture party capital out of what they called "Radical attack upon the King." To begin with, the attacks were greatly exaggerated in the Unionist Press. Most of the Liberal leader-writers were careful to state the constitutional argument with extreme moderation.

LIBERAL PRESS ON THE SPEECH.

The leading articles, for example, in the "Manchester Guardian" and the "Westminister Gazette" were models of what such protests should be, while the "Daily Chronicle" in its first comment on the Conference earnestly deprecated all such imputations against His Majesty "as has been inevitably suggested by the persistent Unionist attempts to treat him as part of the Unionist stage properties." When the text of the royal speech appeared, the "Manchester Guardian" inferred that it was to be regarded as "the personal act of the King; for there were "expressions and implications running through the speech which are by no means neutral, which are essentially disputable, and as many people will think unfortunate and mistaken." The "Westminster Gazette" thought that the speech, judged by internal evidence, could not have received the imprimatur of the Government. And when Mr. Asquith explained that the speech was sent to him in the ordinary way (can there be an ordinary way for sending a document that is by its nature unprecedented?) the criticisms were turned inevitably from the King to the Prime Minister. "It is far better" said the "Manchester Guardian," "that the Prime Minister should make a mistake than that the King should mistake his duty under the Constitution."

The "Westminster Gazette," generally the most loyal and immovable of Government organs," said:—

The Opposition newspapers appear to entertain a very singular idea about the functions of the Liberal press. They seem to assume as a matter of course that Liberal newspapers will hastily withdraw their criticisms and express remorse for having uttered them, when the PrimeMinister declares that he passed the phrase to which they took exception. This is a mistake. Great as is our admiration for the Prime Minister, we do not hold him to be infallible, and we have not changed our opinion. We said yesterday, and we may repeat to-day, that "for either the Government or the Sovereign to speak of the cry of civil war as being on the lips of the most responsible and soberminded of my people' is to strike a very new note in public affairs." It is, we continue to think, a very undesirable note. Sir Edward Carson may talk of "civil war" and politicians may repeat the phrase; we know its purpose and meaning when used by them. But for the Sovereign no war can be levied by private persons in the United Kingdom which is not war against him, and it is not well that he should say that the cry is on the lips of the most responsible sober-minded of his people. The whole object of the present endeavour to find a peaceful settlement is to rally the responsible and soberminded people against the minority who have talked to us of civil war.

If language of this kind, so excessively "responsible and sober-minded," is denounced as symptomatic of what are called "the vagaries of the Radical Press," the best answer is a reference to the outrageous recklessness of the Opposition speakers and writers kept up without intermission ever since the Parliament Bill came under discussion. It is interesting, however, to note that the Liberals in the House were not troubled by the Press criticisms of the King, but they were angered when the attack was turned upon the Prime Minister. Mr. Asquith, indeed, seems to be immensely popular with the outside public. His defence of the King has told unquestionably in his favour, and the papers of all parties have remarked upon the enthusiasm displayed by the crowd outside Buckingham Palace during the sittings of the Conference.

THE ISSUES.

The Conference has belied the prophets. After four sittings it was still in being, and we are assured that its deliberations have not gone beyond the one question with which it was concerned—the delimitation of the area to be excluded from the Home Rule Bill. Notice how completely the battle of self-government for Ireland has been won. The leading article in "The Times" of this morning has the following passage:—

The sole object of the Conference was to find a way by which civil war might be averted. That was the single item upon its programme. It had nothing to decide about the general government of Ireland. It was only asked to dispel, if it could, the approach of internal strife. The actual issue was very narrow. It concerned the question of area, and nothing else. All the members of the Conference were agreed that some portion of Ireland, greater or less in extent, was to be excluded from the operations of the Home Rule Bill. The question was—how much? We sincerely trust that, whatever may be the outcome of these proceedings, the Conference has rigidly confined itself to this single point, and not suffered itself to be led away in other and more nebulous directions.

Nothing could be plainer than that. Home Rule is accepted as inevitable by the Unionist party—even by Sir Edward Carson. The Government has agreed to some form of exclusion. There is nothing at issue except the question of boundaries. How then, it may be asked, can there any longer be talk of civil war even on the lips of people who are anything but responsible and sober-minded. There was a time when Sir Edward Carson was prepared to provoke an appeal to arms, not merely to save Ulster from governing itself, but to prevent the rest of Ireland from getting self-government. To-day he only wants to fight, apparently to prevent the Protestant counties of Ulster from electing their own destiny,—a situation so farcical that, if the British public had not allowed itself to be bemused by political rhetoric, it would only need to be stated in order to be destroyed by ridicule. We shall, of course, come through the present crisis. And, equally of course, we shall come through without civil war though Ireland may not escape serious disturbances of one kind or another. But one thing is perfectly certain. When we are through with it, we shall all realise that the summoning of a Conference by the King is not by any means the only "new departure" with which we shall have to reckon. For the nation and the empire will have been furnished with a lesson in the power of rebellion as a political weapon, a lesson which, it may be, British Governments will not be allowed to forget. And whatever the upshot, it is not conceivable that insurgents of all parties—especially those of the Labour army and the Suffragist movement,—will fail to remember the incident of Sir Edward Carson and Captain Craig, organisers of armed rebellion against constituted authority, being invited to confer with the chief Ministers and the heads of the Opposition as guests in a royal palace.

CREDIT BANK CASE.

[illegible] JAFFER AND Y.

STORY OF HASSAN BROTHERS' ACCOUNT.

The trial of Jaffer Joosub, late Manager of the Credit Bank and N. R. Mistry, auditor of the same Bank, who are charged with having prepared false balance sheets and having abetted certain directors in committing criminal breach of trust, was resumed on Friday morning before Mr. Justice Hayward and a special jury.

The Hon. Mr. Jardine with Mr. Nicholson appeared to prosecute on behalf of the Crown.

Mr. R. J. Mody defended the first accused.

Mr. F. S. Talyarkhan with Mr. H. A. Vakil, defended the second accused.

The cross-examination of Mr. Aranna was continued by Mr. Talyarkhan:—

With regard to Rs. 5,000 of Noor Mahomad Mr. Talyarkhan asked if details were given in the book.

Witness replied that it was paid to the credit of their account on 4th Jan. 1911 and was cash payment by notes.

In answer to his Lordship witness said that payment in Jaffer's account of Rs. 2,000 also by notes. That appeared from the receiving cashier's book. There was a letter guaranteeing to pay Rs. 5,000 from Noor Mahomad and Co. That letter was given to Jaffer after the voucher was made.

The branch expenses came in on the 3rd of Jan. and balance sheet was made on the 4th giving loans, discounting bills and receiving fixed deposits receiving shares and issuing calls.

Was the principal business done by the bank from April till June 1910 and also continued after that?

From April to June not much business with regard to collecting share capital was done. That is my recollection. Referring to books witness replied that most of the shares were taken up before April.

In April the Bank was in Taj Buildings. I don't know when the premises were occupied but the Bank but the Bank was there in March. There was a clerk a peon and Jaffer. In April the staff consisted besides the secretary of Mr. Barnes, manager, witness as accountant, Govind as head clerk, Mody chief cashier, Hiralal as receiving cashier and another paying cashier, Ardeshir Powvala ledger-keeper, share-clerk, dispatcher, general clerk, bill-clerk and four sepoys. This was the full staff when I went in April.

SUBSCRIBED SHARES.

Questioned about share capital subscribed witness after consulting the ledger book said that the total amount of share capital received was Rs. 96,224 up to April consisting of application money, allotment money and first call money. From 10th April to 30th of June 1910, the amount received was Rs. 113,150 in respect of shares subscribed. From July to Dec. 1910 Rs. 692,698. This includes shares which were underwritten and not actually paid for and against which loans were given. That shows the amount of work done in share capital, as against this the banking business only amounted in earnings to Rs. 1,500. Uptil June 1910, the share business was not the main business done.

None of the branches helped in getting the share capital subscribed.

The letter dated 5th January from the manager to Mistry asking him to come and audit the account was referred to. Witness said that this letter was given to Mistry in witness's presence after witness initiated it. Mistry first spoke and said "You must give me a letter as the accounts must be signed before the 7th." This was done on the evening of the 5th.

Re-examined by Mr. Jardine witness said:—

The share business was first attended to by a share clerk. His pay was Rs. 35 Dady burjor got 40 or 45. Out of Rs. 692,000 mentioned above the amount paid was Rs. 533,224 between the first of July and end of December, 1910. In respect of allotment and first call nothing in cash was paid all. It takes about half an hour for the Bank officials to record a loan transaction.

Mukundram Hiralal a convict who is at present serving a term of imprisonment in His Majesty's jail was then called.

Examined by Mr. Nicholson witness said he had been doing business in jewellery. He used to live at the corner of Kubhar Tookda in Buleshwar Lane when he was convicted He knew Jaffer. Jaffer was introduced to witness by Mahomabhoy Nansey Khairaz. Accused wanted to buy some ear-studs. Witness went to see Jaffer at his place at Byculla Club Road. He did not know at the first interview that he was the manager. Later from conversation he came to know that. He had an account in the Credit Bank in 1911, not before that. He had also an account with the Mandvie branch of the Bank. He had drawn a cheque of Rs. 10,000 and Rs. 1,000 on the Mandvie branch. He had signed these on the 7th January 1911. At that time the amount to his credit at the Bank was less than Rs. 11,000.

He had a credit for over-drawing. It was given by the manager. He gave these cheques to Mahomadbhai Nensey Khairaz with whom he had dealings and who was in need of money. It was a loan and it was not paid back..

The witness knew the endorsement on the charges of Mahomadbhai Khairaz.

Cross-examined by Mr. Mody: According to his view Mahomedbhai Khairaz was a substantial party. He would have lent a larger sum to him

Mr. Talyarkhan did not cross-examine.

STORY OF ACCOMODATION NOTES.

Mahomedbhai Nensy Khiraz examined by Mr. Jardine said:—

He had two sons Hasanali and Ahmed. He was a wealthy man once, his firm's name was Nensy Khairaz and Co. It was closed in 1907 or 1908. He had no money left—not the firm—when the firm was closed. For about a year and a half he was unemployed and then he became a broker of the Credit Bank. As such he earned Rs. 250 or 300. He had no other source of income. At that time his sons Hasan Ali and Ahmed had no means. At the end of 1910 he was in difficulties. There were decrees against him and executions were issued. He borrowed some money from Jaffarbhoy on Hundis, about Rs. 400 or 500 and afterwards he paid the amount of the decree by instalments. Jaffer obliged him on that occasion. Jaffer was [illegible] father-in-law of my uncle. He [illegible] grate to Jaffer for what he had done and he was willing to oblige him in return if it lay in his power to do so. From time to time he had written promissory notes at Jaffer's request. He did not get any monies for these promissory notes. They were simply accommodation notes. He had no need for money nor was he in a position to repay them. These notes were sometimes for Rs. 75,000, sometimes to 50,000, sometimes to 40,000. He left everything to Jaffer and Jaffer did not ask these monies from him. The witness remembered the two cheques of Rs. 10,000 and 1,000 given to him by his son, Hasan Ali. He cashed these cheques and paid the amount to Hasan Ali.

Cross-examined by Mr. Mody witness said:—

He was a business man. As such he was used to passing and receiving cheques. He did not know who gave these cheques to his son. He only cashed them at his son's request. He did not ask any thing to him regards these cheques. These cheques were not passed by me. He had business dealings with Mukundram Hiralal but not in connection with these cheques. He had dealings only with regard to sale of jewellery in 1908. He had not borrowed the sum of Rs. 11,000 from Mukundram. If he had done so, it would appear on the cheque. The witness was a J. P.

Mr. Talyarkhan did not cross-examine.

LENT JAFFER THEIR NAME.

Ahmed Mahomadbhoy N. Khairaz said.

He was son of the last witness and was 22 years old. He began to do business in 1908 with his brothers. They did mining business. They borrowed money on their mother's jewellery. The business did not succeed and they lost all.

In June 1910 he joined the Credit Bank on Salary of Rs. 48. He had no money there. In November he went to the Mandvie branch. In 1908 they had accounts at various banks in the name of Hasan brothers. The account at the Chartered Bank lasted till 1913. In December 1910 they opened an account in the Credit Bank. That account was really Jaffer's account. He and his brother lent him their name. The account opened with a credit of Rs. 200. He did not get a forced loan of Rs. 75,000 credited to that account.

Hasan Brothers never wanted that fixed loan. He never drew upon that fixed loan.

On 7th Jan. he saw two sums of Rs. 10,000 and Rs. 1,000 debited to that account. He cashed these cheques because he got a telephone message from Jaffer on the 7th to pass Munkundram's cheque to the extent of Rs. 11,000.

He therefore cashed them though, his account was overdrawn. The witness's father received the cash.

On 30th of June there was a debit balance of Rs. 11,000 and odd in the account.

The witness was shown a cheque on the Chartered Bank in favour of the Credit Bank.

That cheque was signed by him blank because his brother asked him to give him a blank cheque. It was on the 6th or 7th January, 1911. The details were filled in by some one else.

Promissory notes were executed and fixed loans were obtained that way and credited to the Hasan Bros. account. Hassan Brothers never repaid these loans. About Rs. 15,000 were for the purposes of Hasan brothers. That was from the end of Dec. 1910 to the end of 1913. The witness had signed for fixed loans at Jaffer's instance. He had signed for a lakh and a half singly and others with Noor Mahomed. They were for Jaffer's purpose. They were never operated on by him. The loans for Jaffer's purpose amounted to about 4 or 5 lakhs.

He had known Mistry since he joined the bank at the head office.

Cross-examined by Mr. Mody witness said he had accounts as Hasan Bros. in various banks before the Credit Bank came into existence.

They were doing mining business at the time and some cotton business to the extent of a hundred bales. He speculated in shares in 1912 or 1913 to the extent of about Rs. 200 or Rs. 300, also in Government paper to the extent of a hundred or a hundred and fifty rupees. The witness never asked to be accommodated with loans from the Credit Bank promising to pay them back. Really speaking he was indebted to the Bank to the extent of 4 lakhs because these sums were in his name. He never asked his brother why he wanted a blank cheque.

HASAN BROTHERS' ACCOUNT WAS FOR JAFFER'S PURPOSES.

Hasan Ali Mahomadbhoy called and examined by Mr. Jardine said:—

His age was 24.

He had a manganese business started with his mother's monies. This business failed. In 1910 he had no means and no employment. He took service with the All India Insurance Co., on a salary of Rs. 50. Then he joined his father in broker business of the Credit Bank, his father being hard of hearing. Then he borrowed 7,000 from Jaffer, for Cinematograph business which had to be closed in two months. The Rs. 7,000 were never paid back to Jaffer. Later in June 1911 he joined service with Jaffer—not with the Bank—at Rs. 100 a month. His business was to keep the accounts of the speculative business of Jaffer and Noor Mahomed his brother. At the end of 1910 Hasan Bros. opened an account with the Credit Bank. That account was credited with Rs. 75,000 fixed loan. Jaffer asked him to sign a pro-note and he did so. Hasan Bros. did not receive any of these Rs. 75,000. The account of Hasan Bros. was for Jaffer's purposes.

At the top of that account on the book it was written in pencil in Jaffer's hand writing "the manager for every cheque." In September 1909 the witness signed an application for 19,500 shares at Jaffer's request. He had no money at the time and did not pay any money on application allotment or first call. He signed a pro-note on the same day for Rs. 37,000. He had paid nothing on the pro-note up to now. The shares really were with Jaffer. He signed pro-notes jointly with his father for The shares remained with the Bank nothing was paid on this note, also the shares stood in the witnes's name in the books

The witness was then shown the two cheques of Rs. 10,000/- and Rs. 1,000/- Witness said these two cheques were given to him by Jaffer with instructions to get them cashed at the Mandvie branch and put the money to the credit of Hassan Brothers' account in the Chartered Bank. He did get the cash from his father by whom the cheques were cashed. Hasan Brothers never agreed to put Rs. 11,000/- to the credit of Credit Bank for the privilege of doing its brokerage. Hasan Brothers never did brokerage business.

The witness signed a dividend-warrant for those 19,500/- shares. The warrant was given to him by Jaffer. The amount was Rs. 1,700 and odd. He signed and drew the money to Jaffer because they were Jaffer's shares. The interest on loans was Rs. 2,000/- and Jaffer gave him a further sum besides the interest on 19,500 shares to make up this sum to pay against the interest on the loans.

The witness knew Mistry. Mistry was on friendly terms with Jaffer.

Cross-examined by Mr. Mody witness said:—

He had borrowed Rs. 7,000 for the cinematograph. No security was given for the same. His wife's jewellry with Rs. 4,000 was given as security for sums borrowed previously.

It would be false to say that he joined the Bank's service for he was in Jaffer's service and used to look after his private accounts. He had no books of accounts of his own and it was absolutely false to say that he was suppressing them for the purpose of his insolvency.

Bapu Vinayak called and examined by Mr. Jardine said:—

He was a clerk in the Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China. Mr. Graves is accountant of that bank. Hasan Brothers had an account with the Bank. The account shown to him was a true copy of Hasan Brothers' account.

Mr. Kazi Kabirudin called and examined by Mr. Jardine said:—

He was a barrister and one of the directors of the Credit Bank from a little before 1910 until it went into liquidation. The Minute Books of the Board meetings were shown to the witness from 18th December 1909 to Septemebr 1913. He was the third chairman of the Board of Directors from 9th June 1910, and he was chairman up to 7th January 1911 and had signed these minutes as chairman. The minutes correctly record what took place at the meeting.

Jaffer Joosub was appointed manager at the meeting of June 16th 1910. Mr. Barne's resignation being given and accepted on the same day.

There was no agreement or understanding between Jaffer and the Bank that he should pay the amount of the preliminary expenses or pay anything towards the expenses of the Bank. If there had been any such agreement it would have been recorded.

Cross-examined by Mr. Mody witness said that he had read the report of the evidence in the papers. Aranha was not sent for at all at the meeting and Aranha's statement to the contrary is not true. Aranha never stepped into the room so long as he was there. If Aranha said that he put his signature on the balance-sheet, at the board meeting that would be untrue.

Cross-examined by Mr. Talyarkhan witness said that he was present at the meeting when Mistry was appointed auditor. Inquiries were made as to his qualification and respectability and the board was quite satisfied.

As far as the witness's memory went he was quite certain Rice and Aranha were not in the room at all and their statement to that effect was quite incorrect. The statement made by Rice that the witness reprimanded Jaffer could not be true.

There was a misfeasance summons against all the directors and the liquidator was seeking to make the directors liable for 23 lakhs and odd. That summons was not disposed of. The witness had instructed his solicitors to defend it.

Gulamhussein Virjee Patell examined by Mr. Jardine said, that he was a director of the Credit Bank in the middle of 1910. He remembered when the balance sheet was put before the meeting of directors on 7th Jan., 1911. Mr. Kazi as chairman asked Mistry whether everything was all right. Mistry was at the meeting through out. Mr. Rice was not there in the room. Generally one auditor was present, Mistry and not Rice. At all the meetings the witness attended Mistry was present and never Rice.

Hiralal. Chotalal examined by Mr. Jardine said that he was a creditor of the Credit Bank in 1910. He did not remember whether he was present at the Board meeting of 7th January. He remembered the first balance sheet of the bank and he was present at the meeting where the balance sheet was passed. It was decided to give 6 p. c. dividend to the shareholders at that meeting.

One Mistry was the auditor of the Coy. He did not know the name of the other. There was no body else present at the meeting of the 7th January. Mistry was present there all the time. He did not know what Mistry did. There were some conversations in English between Mr. Kaji, the other directors and Jaffer. He knew the accountant Aranha.

Aranha was not present at the meeting. He was certain about that.

Ardeshir Hormasji Golwala called said that he was employed as a paying cashier in the Credit Bank in 1911 and as such he paid out the dividends. Rs. 13,738-1-9 was for dividends.

The actual cash paid was Rs. 12,035-0-5.

Cross-examined by Mr. Talyarkhan witness said that "cash paid out" included dividend paid in cash and taken over to the loan accounts.

He could not say what a actual amount of cash was paid out without looking at the dividend book. Rs. 9,148-7-5 was credited in the loan account. The rest would be what was paid in cash.

There was a column styled "token numbers" and whenever cash was paid a token, a copper coin, was given and whenever token was not shown it was not paid in cash but was credited to the loan account.

The court then rose for the day.

CENTRAL BANK.

DIRECTORS' HALF-YEARLY REPORT.

The fifth report of the Board of Directors of the Central Bank of India for the half year ended June 30th 1914 is as follows:—

The gross profits for the half year amounted to Rs. 64,302-5-11 and deducting therefrom Rs. 39,842-5-0 for establishment and other charges, the net profits amount to Rs. 24,460-0-1. Adding Rs. 10,025-10-7 brought forward from the last year's account, the balance to the credit of the Profit and Loss Account is Rs. 34,485-11-6. The Dirtctors have decided after careful consideration to carry forward this amount to next half-year's account, as they think it advisable to watch the whole year's working of the Bank before disposing of the present balance of profit. The Directors trust that the shareholders will consider the above result satisfactory, taking into consideration the bad financial times, lack of commercial credit and the great depression in trade that have prevailed for some time past. During the period under review the financial market did not recover materially from the severe shock it sustained owing to the unfortunate circumstances attending the failure of some of the Banks in Bombay and elsewhere. Your Bank, however, has been able to retain the confidence of the investing public.

The Directors trust that with the development in industrial and commercial activity, public confidence will soon be restored, and the growth of the Bank's business would be greater in the future than it has been in the past 12 months.

INDIAN SPECIE BANK SHARES:—As some misleading rumours have been circulated regarding the position of the Bank as to the Shares in the Indian Specie Bank, Limited, held in the name of our Manager Mr. Pochkhanawala, the Directors have had this matter very carefully investigated and they are glad to say that the entire amount advanced by the Bank on such shares with the exception of a smal l sum of Rs. 11,557-6-6 has been recovered. It will be seen from the Balance Sheet that out of the said amount the sum of Rs. 8,498-13-6 has been treated for the present as a doubtful debt. The liquidator of the Indian Specie Bank, Limited, in liquidation has placed the name of Mr. Pochkhanawala on List A, of contributories (i. e., as present owner) with regard to 3,944 shares and on List B (i. e., as past owner within 12 months before liquidation) as to 5,737 shares. The last mentioned shares were sold and delivered and are now held by reliable parties and the contingency of Mr. Pochkhanawala being called upon to pay further calls in respect of any of these shares is extremely remote. As to 3,944 shares on List A an application will be made to the Court at the time the List is settled to substitute the names of solvent purchasers or owners as to 3,137 shares and little difficulty is expected in getting the application entertained. Out of these 3,137 shares, 2,080 shares were sold by the Bank before the failure of the indian Specie Bank, Limited, to substantial parties and the remaining shares are held on behalf of consittuents about whose ability to pay any calls that may be hereafter made there is no question. It will be seen from these figures that if any anxiety need be apprehended as to payment of calls on shares in the Indian Specie Bank, Limited, it is with regard to 807 shares and even here there is every probability of recovering all the calls that may have to be paid with regard to 427 shares.

The total market value of the securities held by us on account of our advances against Government Paper, Bonds, Debentures, Shares, Piece Goods, Immovable Properties etc., is estimated at Rs. 45,98,000, against which, our actual advances are to the extent of Rs. 31,59,000, thus leaving a margin of over 30 ptr cent. on the market values.

The report is signed by Sir Pherozeshah M. Mehta, K.C.I.E., Chairman.

ROYAL YAKUTI

(ANANG VILAS.)

THIS YAKUTI or life-giving nectar has been prepared from the best, choicest and richest vegetable drugs. It has a wonderful property of increasing the nerve power and is a specific for diseases. This valuable medicine is used in large quantities among Rajas, Maharajas and many of our esteemed customers. But we have ventured to give it publication simply with a view to place it before the general public owing to the demand of several friends. It is needless to expatiate upon the magical qualities of this our invaluable medicine. We would not like to blow the French horn as is the fashion of the day, but suffice it to say that the use of this medicine is recommended to those who have any faith in the efficacy of Ayurvedic and Unani medicines. We recommend it also to those persons who desire to tone up the nervous system, to strengthen the body, refresh the memory, and to guard against debility. It works like a charm and the effect is lasting. It restores strength, and it is enough to say that musk is not that which a perfumer admires, it is that which diffuses fragrance of its own accord. Price per tin containing 40 pills, Rupees ten only. Postage extra. No PARDEE necessary.

TELEPHONE TYPES.

AN OPERATOR'S REMINISCENCES

With the permission of the Post Office authorities, Mr. Harold E. Gorst went through the telephone course at the Carter-lane school, and became a qualified operator in order to study the inner working of the telephone system. Writing in "Westminster Gazette," he says:—

The public has no idea of the impression it makes, when using the telephone, upon the operator. Judging from the experience I acquired at various exchanges, it appears to have neither manners nor consideration, but childish impatience, and a habit of exaggeration amounting to untruthfulness. It mumbles its English, gets into tantrums, and treats the telephonist more like a tiresome complaint than a human being. There is such a thing in our social life as the perfect gentleman, but it is a type that seldom (if ever) exists on the telephone. "The telephone does not tend to evoke the qualities that go to make a perfect gentleman," remarked a high official in the service. But he assured me that, after considerable experience abroad, he preferred the London telephone public to the American, French, or any other

An operator soon discovers, amongst other pleasant and unpleasant things, that users of the telephone belong to certain recognised types. There is the business man, the man about town, the languid clery, the office boy, the telephone hog, the young lady at the private switchboard, the society woman, the exaggerator, and several other well-defined species. Almost every user of the telephone drifts, by slower or quicker degrees, into the "exaggerator" class. A few annoying experiences soon develop a regular habit of telepone abuse. The following is a daily occurrence that is responsible for a large proportion of telephone hatred, malice and uncharitableness:

ANIMATED CONVERSATION.

Box rings up Cox. They hold an animated conversation. Each thinking that the subject has been disposed of, says "Good-bye" and hangs up his receiver. A moment afterwards something left unsaid occurs to both. Their exchange operators have meanwhile, on getting the clearing signal through the lines were tapped by the exchange officials and the game discovered. The Northern District Telephone Company used to employ boys as operators, The supervisor in those days consisted of an Irishman armed with a thick stick, who sat behind the operators and kept them up to the mark by belabouring them at intervals.

The worst type of office switchboard is the one without an operator. The duty of answering the telephone is not individual but collective. Three languid clerks are pretending, at somewhat rare intervals, to be busy. The bell rings. Nobody takes any notice, but all yawn simultaneously in order to display their indifference. The bell continues to ring intermittently. The semi-bald clerk clicks impatiently with his tongue; the pseudo-sporting clerk with the red nose glowers angrily across at the "nut" with the sleek, black hair brushed off his forehead and over the back of his coliar. The "nut" continues in absorbed admiration of his handwriting. The discussion opens as to who would answer the telephone on this occasion. Each makes a general speech denying responsibility. Moral pressure having been successfully brought to bear upon the nut, he reaches the switch-board in time to discover that the caller has given up hope and retired from the contest. The telephone service is blamed by both.

"TELEPHONE HOG."

The "telephone hog" exists—fortunately, in small numbers—at every exchange in the London area. There is, of course, the man who uses insulting language. He is seldom brought to book, because the operator, in reporting a case of this kind, is obliged to write down the exact expressions used by the subscriber over the wire. In the worst cases, these are of such a character that no self-respecting girl can be induced to put them on paper. There is, however, another type of "telephone hog" that is highly vexatious to the service, and by no means rare. This is the City man suffering from swelled head, who makes himself as exclusive and unapproachable in his office as a false prophet. His switchboard is operated by an office-boy. When a call comes through for this City "swelled head" the procedure is as follows: The office-boy has first to write down the particulars on a card, which he then conveys to the "swelled head's" sanctum. After knocking twice at the door, he is roughly told to come in. When the "swelled head" has exhausted a rich vocabulary of unpleasant oaths, the card is scrutinised and the boy told to put caller replacing of the receivers, disconnected them. Each thereupon rings up the other, and gets the reply, "Number engaged." Box and Cox fly immediately into a passion. "Nonsense! Incredible! I was just taking to that number," exclaims each, and within three minutes both are heatedly engaged in pouring out their complaints into the ears of their respective exchange supervisors.

The private switchboard is often responsible for holding up the service. It is much in use in large business houses, in drapers' shops, hotels, and so on. The most usual feature connected with it is the employment of an overworked young woman, who wears herself and everybody else out in a frantic endeavour to cope with an avalanche of multifarious duties. I spent an hour or so, one morning, watching the operator in a large hotel. She sat at the switchboard in a sort of box-office measuring five feet by six. Behind her was a semi-circular counter, at which there were seldom fewer than three hotel visitors, with voluminous requirements, drumming on it with their knuckles in the last stages of impatience. It would take an entire article to give a complete list of this operator's duties, from taking written or verbal messages for transmission, to sending round a page with messages received for visitors over the wire. Whilst I watched, the harried operator passed the same call on two different lines. On one she got through; on the other she received the "engaged" signal she herself having engaged the number on the first line. The operator was a model of patience; but a constant obligation to run off to the counter, leaving incoming calls unanswered, must have sadly disorganised the service, on her lines, at the exchange to which the hotel was attached.

A NIGHTMARE.

The office boy at the switchboard is a nightmare of the telephone system. His youthful imagination has invented a number of amusements. One of these is to send endearing messages and invitations, over the wire, to the embarrassed exchange operator, whose official vocabulary—outside which she is forbidden to travel—fails to provide for emergencies of this character. When he has exhausted this source of recreation, he falls back upon a variety of inventions for holding up the service. In the earlier days of the telephone, office boys amused themselves by holding a durbar over the wires, getting as many as eight different private switchboard operators into circuit together. The firms employing them having made bitter complaint of bad service through on the extension. Of course, in nine cases out of ten the caller, having also exhausted his vocabulary, has gone away. Whereupon the "telephone hog" complains to the Controller and Postmaster-General that he is always being "cut off" in the most scandalous fashion, and that somebody ought really to be dismissed.

The average business man wastes no time in politeness when he uses the telephone. He is generally abrupt in manner. When the operator answers his signal, he bellows out the required number like a tiger asking for its raw meat at 4 p.m. in the lion-house. Until he has got his number he is equally ready, with the tiger at the Zoo, to snap off the head of anybody—perferably the operator's—who comes between him and his prey. But the bark of the business-man on the telephone is worse than his bite. He is rude, but just in his treatment of the operator when things go right.

WORST DISORGANISER OF SERVICE.

With some pain I come to the women of leisure—the member of society whose exhausted nerves and irritability are due to the hard work of ordering other people about, coupled with the still harder task of cramming a week's nourishment and recreation into a single day. She is universally admitted to be the greatest trial in the life of the operator, and the worst disorganiser of the telephone service. The following typical incident occurred last week within my own knowledge: I was listening in with an operator at an exchange in a fashionable district—that is to say, by means of a duplicate telephone set I was enabled to hear what passed between the subscriber and the operator, and to follow up the details of putting through each call at this particular position on the switchboard.

The time of day was 6.30 p.m. The operator was a young girl of seventeen, a most efficient and industrious worker. She had already been on duty since 10 a.m., and would have to complete ten hours' service before her work for the day was finished—these hours being reduced on alternate days to six, with a half-holiday on Saturday. For a whole hour I had watched her attending to a constant succession of calls, but these were now beginning to slacken off. A lamp glowed at the position just vacated on the other side of me. The reach was a long one, so I helped the operator by putting the plug in the answering-jack. A woman's voice asked for a number. The operator obtained a junction-line from the distant exchange without delay, and connected her subscriber to the required number. It was all done in three or four seconds. The called subscriber did not reply immediately, whereupon the caller began agitating her receiver, causing a flash-signal to be made on the board in front of me. The operator at once went into circuit, saying: "I am trying to get them." The ordinary procedure would have been to wait thirty seconds before asking if the required number had answered. She was immediately called a "damned fool" for her pains, the woman of leisure adding: "You're too damned lazy to get it." Then, without having uttered a word beyond the officially prescribed phrases (which are almost grovellingly polite), the operator was rated for her insolence and ordered to connect the woman of leisure with the exchange supervisor, so that a complain might be made of her conduct.

Blessed are the meek in spirit: they are the only possible telephone operators!

MR. BRANDES ON LITERATURE.

Dr. George Brandes, the great Danish critic, has been to the United States, and his visit has provoked some interesting statements from him in the "Independent" on the literature of to-day.

"'Literature is no longer national, as typifying a race,' he said, 'it is now only a matter of the language in which it is printed. When I pick up a book I no longer notice whether it is published in New York or London, in Vienna or Berlin. It is sufficient if it is English or German. There are no longer any pure racial stocks. What we call France, for example, is made up of more than a hundred racial stocks; its very name comes from a German tribe.

"'Your literature will always remain English, despite the immigration of other races. You crush them into your life, they are unable to escape. The Jew in Russia remains distinct. In Denmark he has the blue eyes and flaxen hair of the Dane. No matter how great the immigrants or their children learn to speak English, then they are yours.

"'You have one author whose work I admire. I count Henry James almost a personal friend. His "The Americans" typifies best to me your breaking of the caste traditions of Europe. The Frenchman wants to fight a duel, because to him life is cheap, but the American, who has learned its value, will not fight. But with James, as with all your American and English writers, I am always conscious of the reserve of the author. He does not present life frankly to us. He leaves out, veils, or at best only suggests the one real problem of life—sex. I do not mean sex in the physical sense, but as it relates to the conflict between man and woman. Ibsen was the first to understand the psychology of this conflict. There are things about Walt Whitman I admire, but I shrink from him; his personal habits offend me. That is not the kind of sex I mean.

"Lack of intellectual independence is the United States' chief fault.

"'Everywhere in America I am asked anxiously concerning the growth of your intellectual life. Is it not greater to invent, to build, to break the traditions of the past than to quibble on philosophical points? I understand you admire Eucken and Bergson in this country. For me they do not exist. Do they preeach anything new? They raise one finger and say you must do this, you must not do that, "this is moral, that is immoral." You have no such philosophers; you keep them in the churches, where they belong!

"'And this intuitive philosophy that Bergson teaches. Hegel long ago riddled Schelling's theory of intuition. How can one set intuition above reason? When you tell a man he can arrive at the truth through intuition you sweep aside all standards, you make room for anything.

"'But I think I understand they are dignified men, these philosophers; they are noble men. Is it not their nobility you admire?'"

The Chicago "Record Herald" views the "visit of the most distinguished Scandinavian man of letters to the United States" as "an event comparable in interest and importance to the recent visit of Anatole France to England." Further:

"Dr. Brandes has much in common with Anatole France, whom, indeed, he has introduced to Scandinavia as he has introduced so many other European writers, dramatists, and thinkers."

Owing to the removal of the seat of government from Poona to Bombay, all dinner parties, the purdah party, and the Ball at Government House, Ganeshkhind, are cancelled.

THE EMPRESS EUGENIE

VISIT TO THE SCENE OF HER EARLY TRIUMPHS.

TOUCHING SPECTACLE.

The Empress Eugénie, widow of Napoleon III., during her stay in Paris, has revived old memories by a visit to the Chateau of Fontainebleau, during the Mail week.

Accompanied by her niece and the Counts Walwesky and Primoli, the Empress presented herself at the gate of the Chateau like any sightseer, and gave her name to the Brigadier, who went to inform the curator of the building of the august visit.

M. d'Esparbès, who is not for nothing a delicate poet, realised to the full the tragic pathos of the circumstance. Silent and bareheaded he ascended the great horseshoe staircase, with the Imperial figure in deep mourning at his side.

Not a word was said on either side, says the "Telegraph" correspondent, who quotes the "Echo de Paris," till the apartments of Louis XIII. were reached. Then the Empress suddenly broke the memory-laden silence. "Ah! there is my box!" she said, touching lovingly an ivory coffer.

"But the legend of the Palace," said M. d'Esparbès gently, "has it that this coffer belonged to Anne of Austria."

"True, true," replied the Empress, "but at my marriage the Emperor presented it to me with a gift of gloves and fans."

THE EMPRESS'S COMMENT.

Later the Empress remarked that the splendid Diana of Benvenuto was no longer in its place. "What has become of it?" she asked, and M. d'Esparbès replied, "Alas! it is now in the Louvre."

"I think they might restore it to its earlier setting," said the Empress gently.

And later, again looking out through an open window to the gardens in the full glories of the summer, "How beautiful they are!" exclaimed the Empress, as if to herself. At another window, commanding the "Etang des Carpes," the Imperial visitor stopped, and, after a moment's silence, said simply, "My gondola is gone."

The Empress lingered long in the Chinese museum—her own work—tracing the history of different curious. "The Emperor," she said, "used to make me each year a present of Chinese curios. My presents to him were suits of armour." Then the Empress left the Chateau for the gardens, where she sat down for a few minutes looking out over the Etang des Carpes.

RECOLLECTIONS.

"Not that I am tired," she said, "but to have leisure to recollect." Here she was joined by Mme. Gillois, an old personal friend of the Empress, and one of the reigning beauties of the Court of Fontainebleau.

They talked for a few minutes of old far-off things. As Mme. Gillois withdrew, the Empress turned to M. d'Esparbès and said, with a little brek in the voice, "Dear Madame Gillois! She brings back the past. She was then slim and graceful, with a waist that two hands could span."

A little band of children and women, who had heard of the Imperial visit, gathered at the Palace gates. As the Empress passed she caressed with her engloved hand the forehead of a child, a boy and then, for the first time during this pilgrimage of memory, her eyes filled.

"JUNIOR TORY CLUB."

IMPERIAL POLICY.

Oxford undergraduates have succeeded in forming another "movement," says the "Pall Mall Gazette." Not for some years has such a large measure of enthusiasm been shown for a political project.

Towards the end of term a committee of undergraduates and graduates was formed to establish a new Conservative organization, having the support of the existing Conservative Club.

It had been felt that there was a genuine need for a new centre for the Conservatives of the University on somewhat broader and more pointedly political lines than the existing organization.

Prominent Unionists approved of the idea, and gave it liberal support. The club was opened by Lord Valentia, and applications for membership were far more numerous than had been anticipated, no fewer than 150 seeking to identify themselves with the new movement.

The Junior Tory Club, as the new organization is called, is designed to embody the "Young Conservative" idea by endeavouring to keep in close touch with current politics and render practical assistance to the Unionist party by propagandist work at elections.

By an extensive and varied programme of meetings the club proposes to develop writers and speakers that may be of use to the party. The Carlton Club is closely associated with the work of the club, and will assist in securing representative speakers for the periodical house dinners that have been arranged.

A feature of the club's programme, and one which has attracted a large percentage of the Colonials at Oxford, is that it has decided to devote special attention to Imperial affairs, particularly to the problems of defence and immigration.

By a curious coincidence, a similar organization, styling itself the Imperial Conservative Club, has recently been started at McGill University, in Canada. It is hoped at Oxford that these parallel movements may be the beginning of a number of similar movements in other parts of the Empire, and, with this object in view, a common basis has been evolved on matters of Imperial policy.
